NOTES

Paul was willing to say whatever needed to be said whenever it needed to be said. This caused him to adapt how he was communicating to people based on the need of the moment. The message he was communicating was not one of human effort but of God's power. While it is so easy to default to a position of fighting the battles of our life with our own strength, understanding, and solutions, the Authentic Christian Life is about laying down those human weapons for faith. It is our trust and dependency upon the Lord that will be the difference maker in every aspect of our lives.
