

Q&A

Is Gen. 3:15 simply the break-up of the natural order between man and snakes/animals, or does it play a role in Genesis that points to a cosmic conflict and the victory that is to come in and through the tribe of Judah?

How should a Christian apply commands, promises, and principles from the Old Testament? For example, does 2 Chronicles 7:14 apply today and if so, how?

In Corinthians, is Paul addressing the people concerning their wrong practices only, or are we to emulate his restrictions in today's world? (i.e. women should not speak in church but wait and ask their husbands.)

Notes:

Q&A

Is Gen. 3:15 simply the break-up of the natural order between man and snakes/animals, or does it play a role in Genesis that points to a cosmic conflict and the victory that is to come in and through the tribe of Judah?

How should a Christian apply commands, promises, and principles from the Old Testament? For example, does 2 Chronicles 7:14 apply today and if so, how?

In Corinthians, is Paul addressing the people concerning their wrong practices only, or are we to emulate his restrictions in today's world? (i.e. women should not speak in church but wait and ask their husbands.)

Notes:
